Coventry Equestrian Center is hosting
A Special Animal EVENT
this Saturday, August 20, 2011 with animal communicator Sheryl Blumenthal
Visit Sheryl's website at <http://littleone.us>

It is raining finally - yeah. Coventry's aqua basin needs it! Horses in Sunday night and Monday night. Will be out Tuesday evening.

So many changes at Coventry. Cindy and Whisper returned and Miss Madame moved south to be closer to Sara. And, Twilight has moved in. We still have two stalls for rent and one is being saved for the magnificent Brachster, just had to add that. Less I hit the jack pot and can send him and me to Florida for the winter!

We have three horses for lease Somerset, Training/ First Level horse, Bella coming Second Level and Twilight - an all around fun safe horse who has shown First level. Making deals that include lessons to the right riders ☺

The Coventry show was great. everyone did such a good job. Mandy and Beau scored a 74% and finally got the 9 they deserved on their free walk. Two videos are posted on facebook. One at this link <https://www.facebook.com/profile.php?id=708613944> and the other here ...

From 4:00-6:00pm Sheryl will talk about animal communication. There is a $15.00 donation for this talk and then from 6:00-8:00 pm she is scheduling private 15 minute sessions with you and your pets. Bring a photo of your pet for the private session. The cost for the private reading is $25.00

I have been scanning in some old photos... here I am, the blonde bomb shell - ha ha, riding Pernod in a dressage demonstration I organized in the eighties. I love my perfect riding position in the top photo. Nice! And, then the complete opposite in the photo below, I have slumped into a chair seat. But, that is because I just came across the diagonal in an lengthened trot and fell behind the action! Not suppose too. Anyhow, two good photos of a good aligned seat and a rider behind the action. Note, my trainer at the time Roanne Winnett keeps her position no matter what! Photos taken at Greenmoor Common in Cecil,
