Horses in today Friday You know the drill.

My Chihuahua Max was in a commercial for TV. He was a star for a day! And so much fun. Book signing at Borders coming soon!

Ingrid (from Equestrian Eden.com) riding her horse Saber in a medium trot - incredible! Notice the over reach from behind, this is how it is suppose to be done, not just the front legs showing expression but front and hind!

Stretching a Baroque Horse

Dates for your Calendar
March 10th (date change) - Animal Communicator at Coventry 4pm- Sheryl Blumenthal. Visit Sheryl's website at http://littleone.us
March 10th - Test n Train Clinic at White Fox Equestrian center with Kristin Hermann (that's me!)
March 11th - Tack Swap in Cecil
March 12th Jumping with Kristy 530 to 730
March 18th - Long Lining with George around 3pm, let me know if you are signing up... Here is Bucca during his first session with George. You can see all the power gathering from behind and how light Bucca is in the bridle! http://youtu.be/7APojSUxn2A
April 14th - Test N Train Clinic at Coventry with Emily Craig at Coventry

A MUST DO NOW
Tack Swap is this SUNDAY
Lindy is going to the tack swap in Cecil March 11th. and she will cart your stuff there, sell it and donate 10% back to the Coventry riders or back to you. See flier in barn! So start cleaning out your unused horse stuff!! Thank you in advance, we expect to be successful at the LEC show and make this farm proud

A photo of me & Brach doing what we do best stretching! Who says a Baroque horse can't stretch? He is stretching into the contact with his whole top line. Brach can stretch down and out which develops his top line muscles so he can then step under and up and lift and carry! Below is a photo of him lifting and semi light in the bridle at a canter, he could be lighter. First we train the horse to stretch down and round to develop the top line and then we train them to go under and up.

Belle says eat your vegetables…

"Lost time is never found again." Benjamin Franklin